PARAGRAPHS CONCERNING MICHIGAN

(By Ed A. Nowack)

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 27.—An example of unselfish devotion to public duty is chronicled in the labors of Fred W. Green, Ionia, mayor of that city for so many years that the name and date of service of his predecessor is forgotten. The review of cities as observed by the League of Michigan Municipalities gives Mayor Green a salary of $4,000 a year. In his own right he is a millionaire several times over. There are a number of cities listed by the League as having mayors who receive from $25 to $100 annually. Grand Lodge pays its mayor $25 a year; St. Johns is listed as paying its mayor $72; Ypsilanti pays $1 per year and several cities, like Cadillac and Big Rapids, pay nothing.

Cities in Michigan during the past year have installed about 20,000 miles of street lighting equipment as an aid to beautifying cities at night and to provide protection.

Michigan boasts of a state wide super power system 1,500 miles in length. This system is owned by the Consumers Power company and it serves 159 thriving cities and towns. Electrical resources of this system total about 8 million horsepower, with 171,000 additional horsepower now under construction and soon ready for release.

Hunters generally this year are stronger than ever for the one-buck law. More deer are in the woods now than for many years past, they say. It was left in the natural increase for deer this year to wipe away the major part of the prejudice against the present law. It is estimated that around 40,000 hunters took out deer hunting permits this year. About half the number are expected to obtain deer.

Thirty-three cities in Michigan now have city managers to conduct the business of the municipalities. The salary of $1,400 is the lowest paid at Big Rapids, while one other city pays $1,900, four others $2,000 per year, three $2,400 and the balance from $2,600 to $7,000. Fred Locke, Grand Rapids, and Fred Harris, Escanaba, are in the latter class.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

Frank Croul, Detroit's commissioner of police, is the highest salaried police chief in Michigan. He draws $7,500 per year. M. D. Castle, Union City chief of police, is one of the lowest paid, he receives $76.00.

Fifty four cities in Michigan have secretaries of chambers of commerce.

The bonded debt of all the cities in the State of Michigan is but a trifle over $225,000,000. Detroit's bonded debt alone is nearly half, $140,163,430.

The tax rate of Gladstone per thousand dollars assessed valuation is $90.84 for all purposes. Her school tax is $56 of the total.

The first white settlers arrived in the vicinity of Escanaba in 1846.

Escanaba boasts of being the only city on Lake Michigan that completely purifies its water and, as well, completely sterilizes its sewage.

The Holstein Freisan association of America will meet in Grand Rapids in June, 1925.

But 11 per cent of Roscommon county is in agricultural use.

Resort land in Roscommon county, while but 2.4 per cent of the total has a bigger assessment than any other classification and pays 28.3 per cent of the county's burden.

670 acres of Roscommon land comprises all the villages in the county. The state owns 28 per cent of the county land which has reverted thru nonpayment of taxes.

The State of Michigan owns 733,475 acres of vitally unproductive cut over land that has reverted thru lapse of tax payments. This land formerly bore excellent timber.

Roscommon county has 14 fair sized chicken ranches.

During the last five years Michigan has lost thru abandonment 273 miles of railroad.

St. Clair county has completed 60 miles of concrete pavement this year.

The Pere Marquette has offered to deed its abandoned right of way in Berrien county, with a bridge worth $150,000, to the county for highway purposes.

Some young fellows in business appear to spend most of their time honking their horns, while others are learning to use the steering wheel.

JAPPA LODGE VISITS GRAYLING

CONFERS INITIATION UPON FIVE CANDIDATES.

It was indeed a most pleasant occasion among the Masonic fraternity last Saturday night when the officers and a number of members of Jappa lodge, F. and A. M., of Bay City were their guests. About 25 Masons from the "Glad Hand" town arrived at various hours Saturday afternoon, via auto, and were most cordially welcomed by Worshipful Master Johan Braun and other members of Grayling lodge.

Lodge was opened at about 6:00 o'clock and upon invitation from Mr. Braun, the visiting officers occupied the official stations, as follows: Worshipful master, E. A. Russell; senior warden, A. R. Gray; senior deacon, S. J. Hein Miller, and Mr. Race, secretary. Harold Jarmin, L. J. Kraus and Carl Peterson, members of Grayling lodge, occupied the stations of junior warden, junior deacon and tyler respectively.

After conferring the first section of the third degree, the candidates being Dr. H. H. Pool, Axel Peterson, Herbert Smith, Carl Jensen and Clark Yost, the lodge closed for refreshments and the men enjoyed a real dinner, served by the ladies of Grayling Chapter, Eastern Star. The banquet room was pretty with nicely set tables, each with bouquets of cut flowers. The food was delicious and abundant and was prepared and nicely served by the ladies of the Star lodge.

While the gentlemen were enjoying their smokes there were a number of short talks, all of which were interesting and entertaining.

The second section of the initiatory work was conferred by the famous Fellowship degree team of Jappa lodge, and was wonderfully well executed. The lectures were given by E. A. Russell, master of Jappa lodge, and A. R. Gray, senior warden of Jappa lodge.

During the speaking at the banquet Master Johan Braun of Grayling lodge assured the visitors a most cordial welcome and the appreciation of Grayling lodge for having come to Grayling. In response Worshipful Master Russell thanked the members for having invited them to come, and assured them that they were having a good time, and extended a most cordial invitation to Grayling lodge to visit them in Bay City. It is hoped and expected that the invitation may be accepted in due time.

Other speakers at the banquet were R. D. Conine of Grayling lodge and Rev. Patterson of Jappa lodge, and the five new members of Grayling lodge. During the banquet Clark's orchestra furnished music and were very highly complimented by the guests and home members.

The entire evening was very enjoyable, and the fine cordial feeling that has long existed between the members of Jappa and Grayling lodges was more than ever firmly cemented, and we are sure that those present will long remember the occasion with profound pleasure.

TOURIST AND RESORT INDUSTRY OUT OF CRADLE

Robert Rayburn, of Alpena, president of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau, is very enthusiastic over the unusually bright prospects prefigured for Northeastern Michigan thru the tourist and resorter. The active and general interest shown by the attendance at the annual meeting at Bay City, October 28, is one of the bases for Mr. Rayburn's enthusiasm. The active interest evidenced by representatives from Wayne County and counties in the Thumb district is one of the weathervanes to which Mr. Rayburn points in support of his optimistic view.

In a statement Mr. Rayburn says: "The tourist and resort industry in East Michigan, which up to the present has been virtually in its cradle, is out of its swaddling clothes and in the summer of 1925 will flower and develop in an amazing manner. One reason for this conviction is the indications which are seen on every hand and especially in the southern part of our section of the state that there has been an awakening to the commercial significance of the tourist and resort trade.

"A few years ago this industry was in a stage of infancy; today it is in a condition of robust, healthy development that is attracting the studied attention of a great many people. All this young industry needs to make it one of the biggest industries in the state is sustenance. This sustenance includes among other ingredients, co-operation and team-work. It is obvious that these and other necessities will be forthcoming.

"Wayne county and counties in the Thumb had representatives present at the annual meeting in Bay City last month. These representatives are all business men of known acumen. They have studied the tourist trend and are ready to go all out for it. The co-operation of these sections of the state will give the movement an impetus that will advance it to the place it should have in the sun.

"The tourist and resort industry affects everyone in Michigan in one way or another. It frequently means real prosperity for the entire community, and our people are to be congratulated in the assistance which will be forthcoming from the lower part of the state in placing our section on the map."

A circular letter has been sent out from the office of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau, urging resort and tourist organizations to carefully investigate all advertising propositions submitted to them. All kinds of schemes are being offered, some good, some bad and many indifferently worthy. A plausible presentation often makes perfectly valueless propositions look promising. If desirable, the Bureau is ready to personally investigate these advertising propositions and to pass upon their desirability. Other organizations similar in principle to the bureau, render this service to their members.

That the city of Midland appreciates the growing importance of the tourist trade is reflected in plans which are already being made. The Fair grounds will continue to be a free camping site, following recent official action. Business men are planning the installation of conveniences and accommodations not heretofore available to the tourist. The completion of the Stanford and Edenville dams will place Midland on the threshold of a new resort section. Active interest among Midland business men in the tourist phase of the work of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau is evidenced in the new members which are being enrolled.

Mackinaw Island, the most famous of middle west resorts, is displaying a revived interest in attracting to it the tourist and resorter. There has been a rehabilitation of the Mackinaw Island Civic Improvement Association and an advertising budget has been established. Recently the organization appropriated $1,000.00 for the three tourist associations in the state. The East Michigan Tourist Association will receive one third of this amount.

WANTED: A SHOT GUN.

The editor of a Michigan paper states that he borrowed a Winchester rifle recently and started up the street to deliver the weapon to the owner. The delinquent subscribers got it into their heads that he was on the warpath and every one he met insisted on paying what they owed him. One man wiped out a debt of ten years standing. On return to the office he found a load of hay, 15 bushels of corn, ten bushels of apples, 22 bushels of potatoes, a cord of wood and a barrel of turkeys that had been brought in. All the country editors are now trying to borrow Winchester—Utica Sentinel.

"Jokes"

We wonder why the pencil sharpeners are busy at 1:05 o'clock. Mr. Smith (in basket ball practice): "Double dribble, Astrid!" Astrid Ahman: "No, I didn't double dribble, I just bounced it twice." Found on an examination paper of one of the 5th B's: Question: What is ventilation? Answer: Ventilation tells us what kind of food, and we should ventilate our food.

Miss Sharpe (giving a question in English Lit.): "The book is here or here, which pronoun would you use?" Carlyle Brown: "Neither one, hian."

Mr. Burnham (in Chemistry class to girls and boys speaking when others are called upon): "Reynolds is a nice name, but we all cannot have it, and it is possible for some of you girls to be named Robertson, but not you boys."

Rose Newell and Frank Willet of the 1st grade have returned to school after a week's absence. Glad Club girls are planning a supper at Corwin's Tuesday night.

Several have returned to school after two-weeks vacation spent hunting. Mr. Burnham went to Mt. Pleasant Saturday.

Ruby Stephan taught the fifth grade Monday, Miss Meyers being ill was unable to be at school.

There have been two new basket balls purchased this term.

Marcella Sullivan, former captain of the basket ball team of the G. H. S., has been chosen captain of the hockey team of Michigan State Normal college, Ypsilanti.

Report cards come out a day early

We wish to correct the statement made in last week's news that, Eva Hendrickson received a bronze medal for having four words per minute in typewriting. It should have read forty words per minute.

The freshmen gave a party for the sophomores last Friday evening. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

The second number of the Lyceum course was given Monday evening in the High school auditorium. The entertainer of this was Miss Maude Willis, an elocutionist, and everyone enjoyed it very much.

PROPOSED ABANDONMENT OF RAILROAD FACILITIES.

"The Manistee & North Eastern Railroad Company and the Michigan Trust Company, as Receiver, have made application to the Michigan Public Utilities Commission for permission to abandon the entire line of the Manistee and North Eastern Railroad, and to dismantle and remove all tracks and structures and dispose of the right-of-way and property appurtenant thereto, in such manner as may be lawful.

"This application will come up for hearing before the Michigan Public Utilities Commission at its offices in Lansing, Michigan, on the eleventh day of December, Nineteen Hundred Twenty-Four, at nine o'clock, in the forenoon, Central Standard Time, or on such other date as said hearing may be adjourned to, by order of this Commission. At this hearing all parties interested in the matter will be heard."

Know what's underneath the paint before you buy

YOU wouldn't think of buying a house without first knowing how it is built and the quality of materials used. In selecting a piece of furniture you are sure to find out whether it is solid wood or veneer.

Yet many people who exercise care in most purchases buy automobiles without even lifting the hood or knowing about the hidden qualities of body and chassis construction that really determine one's satisfaction with a closed car.

We want you to know about the unseen qualities of the new Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

Down underneath its superb body finish is a sturdy framework of carefully selected ash, glued together and fastened in place by screws—not nailed. Ash is strong and expensive, but Studebaker uses it because it best combines proper weight and strength.

Upholstery is genuine mohair of high quality. Various grades of mohair look much alike—the big difference is in the quality.

Beneath this mohair covering are many nests of cushion springs, padded with heavy hurlap, upholstery cotton and curled hair. Almost any car seems comfortable on the showroom floor, but it's quality such as this that makes the Studebaker Standard Six remain comfortable after years of service.

The same standards of excellence are maintained throughout the body and chassis. In the engine, for example, the crankshaft is completely machined on all surfaces, a practice that results in the smooth, quiet, vibrationless performance that characterizes all Studebaker cars.

Judged solely on what your eye can see—in beauty of line and finish and exterior refinements—the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan will command your instant approval.

But go deeper than that. Compare its hidden, vital qualities—its design, materials and workmanship—with cars selling for hundreds of dollars more.

Studebaker never compromises—never uses a substitute for genuine quality. Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for 72 years.

Come in and let us tell you the "inside story" of the Studebaker Standard Six Sedan.

TAPIOCA DISHES

Tapioca is a dessert which may safely be served to the children. It is especially inviting when combined with fruit. Take one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of quick cooking tapioca, one-half cupful of salt and three cupfuls of boiling water. Cook until the tapioca is transparent, then pour it into a well-greased baking dish and cover the top with peeled and quartered apples. Bake until the apples are done. Serve hot or cold with sugar and cream.

Maple Tapioca.—One may use one and one-fourth cupfuls of brown sugar with a half-teaspoonful of maple flavoring if the maple syrup or sugar is not at hand; add one-half teaspoonful of salt and three cupfuls of boiling water to one-half cupful of tapioca. Cook in a double boiler after the first ten minutes of cooking and serve cold with cream.

Tapioca Custard.—Soak two-thirds of a cupful of tapioca one hour in cold water, drain, then add to four cupfuls of scalded milk and cook in a double boiler for half an hour. Beat three eggs slightly, add one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, and pour on gradually the hot mixture, stirring into a buttered baking dish, add one tablespoonful of butter and bake thirty minutes in a slow oven.

Tapioca Rabbit.—Cut fine one cupful of rich cheese, add it to a pint of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one level teaspoonful of mustard, red pepper to taste, and two level tablespoonfuls of quick-cooking tapioca. Cook until thick in a double boiler on steaming dish and just before serving add a well-beaten egg. Serve on toast or crackers.

Peach Tapioca.—Drain a can of peaches, sprinkle with powdered sugar and let stand one hour. To one cupful of tapioca, add three cupfuls of boiling water, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook until the tapioca is transparent. The peach juice from the can may be used, adding enough water to make the three cupfuls of liquid. Line a mold with the peaches, fill in the tapioca and bake thirty minutes. Serve with cream.

When I was one-and-twenty
I heard a wise man say,
Give crowns and pounds and guineas,
But keep your heart away;
Give pearls away and rubies,
But keep your fancy free;
But I was one-and-twenty,
No use to talk to me.
—A. E. Housman.

GOOD THINGS IN SEASON

A drink which will keep and may be used in hot weather can be prepared now from cranberries.

Cranberry Juice.—Take four quarts of cranberries, scald them until their skins split open, then strain through a fine cloth. Make a syrup of two pounds of sugar and one quart of water, then mix all together to make four quarts. Bottle and seal; and when used, fill the glass with crushed ice and pour in the juice to fill the glass.

Pineapple Cake Dessert.—In an iron spider put one cupful of brown sugar and one-half cupful of butter. When melted lay in as many slices of pineapple as the spider will hold and cook, gently for ten minutes; then pour over the following mixture: Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar, two eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half cupful of milk and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Cook on top of the stove for one minute, then put into a hot oven for forty minutes. Turn out on a platter, cool and serve with whipped cream.

Carrot Marmalade.—Wash and scrape enough carrots when put through the meat chopper to make three cupfuls. Boil or steam until tender. Wash and peel two oranges, putting the peeling from one orange through the meat grinder and cutting the other in fine strips. Place these in water and boil until tender. To the hot carrots add four cupfuls of sugar, the juice of three lemons and orange pulp cut into bits, one cupful of water, using the water in which the orange peel was cooked. Cook all together until the syrup is thick and the fruit is clear. Three slices of pineapple may be added in place of the orange, making a different flavored marmalade.

Fruit Salad.—Cut in halves and remove the seeds from Tokay grapes. Slice into small bits celery and firm juicy apple, combine equal parts and mix all together with French dressing. Arrange on leaves of lettuce, mixing a few broken leaves of iceberg lettuce with the other ingredients of the salad. Do not add the pepper to a French dressing until ready to serve it, as it has a tendency to separate the dressing.

LINGERIE IN GIFT LIST;
COATS OF NOVEL FABRICS

SO FAR as femininity is concerned this is fast becoming a silkem world. From head to foot, under and outer garments of silk are encroaching on the fields of those made of other fabrics until one wonders where all the silk comes from. But all that glitters is not gold and all that shimmers is not silk. Processes for making artificial silk and for giving a silky luster to cotton fabrics have reached a high stage of excellence. "Imitation is sincerest flattery" and these less expensive mediums that have much of the sheen and daintiness of silk help out in answering the demand for silky clothes.

Undergarments have reached a de-style. It is of pink crepe de chise with border of alecon lace at the top of the chemise and narrow edging of val at the bottom. Groups of fine tucks and tiny ribbon flowers finish the adornment and shoulder straps are of satin ribbon. The drawers are trimmed in the same way. A set like this, either of silk or fine cotton, is easy to make and an enviable Christmas gift.

The happy possessor of a coat made of one of those warm fabrics that rival fur can look winter in the face and even say: "Pleased to meet you." Manufacturers of these fur-like materials have woven them in the close imitations of natural furs that everyone is familiar with—but they gree of daintiness and beauty that makes them a big factor in Christmas shopping and styles in them are varied a little from time to time. Certain colors and trimmings are promoted each season in silk lingerie and imitations copied exactly in fine and silky cotton fabrics. In silks, crepe de chine, crepe satin, cutlins and other light-weight weaves maintain their popularity, and in cottons, batiste, fine voile, sheer dainties, cross-bar and striped patterns in one color, are used.

Both in silk and cotton lingerie this season two or three light colors are sometimes used, appearing in applique figures or borders on garments of a

are also weaving them in novel patterns. These fabrics are supple, highly lustrous and very durable and are adaptable to this winter's styles in colors and ensemble costumes.

At the test of the picture shown here there is a good example of the warm, luxurious coats that add to the interest of styles—that of novelty in material. It is made on the lines accepted for fur garments and has collar, cuffs and banding at the bottom of a fur that resembles stone marten. It is lined with plain crepe and warm-light color. Pink is far in the lead as a color choice, but orchid, light green, maize and turquoise are well represented. Lace, net and embroidery tucks and platings contribute a big share of the trimmings in favor. Just now, Alecon lace has been revived, but is not more liked than val, filet and cluny faces. Net and embroidery appear on some of the simplest but prettiest new lingerie pieces. In underclothes as in outer garments the mode leans toward simplicity.

A matched set, shown in the picture, is a late arrival and up-to-date in ment for fortifying its wearer against the cold.

A plain weave in the same kind of velvety fabric is shown in the coat at the left. The arresting style note is an applique trimming of the same fabric in a darker color. Dyed muskrat makes the cuffs and a collar which is extended into a long feeling nine inches wide down the entire length of the front. These coats, although they appease the straightline silhouette, are quite wide.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

PLAYING HORSE

Now of all the make-believe horses in the world Daddy made the best one.

He hadn't four legs, it was true. Of course that was a pity. Still, if he had four legs he wouldn't be Daddy.

So that was something to think about.

And he could make a very nice make-believe horse.

He wore a harness so beautifully. He cantered and galloped and sometimes he almost ran away.

At least it was very hard to keep him back. You had to say "Whoa" a great many times, and pull at the harness, too.

The harness was a beautiful one. It was of many colors and it had been knitted. It was round and strong, and it had lovely jingling bells upon it, too.

Sometimes Daddy wouldn't go at all. You just had to urge him and beg him.

Once he had tried lying down. But that time he had got up again when he was given a chocolate. A jump of sugar hadn't made Daddy get up, but he grained when he saw the chocolate, and got up at once.

It was one he particularly liked. He could tell from its shape that it had a hard center and he liked hard centers in the candies.

Then Daddy had been a beautiful horse after that.

Oh, he had given them a splendid ride—or perhaps it should have been called "run".

Sometimes just Nanny drove him, and sometimes Nick did, and sometimes they both did together.

In any case he was a most beautiful horse.

Well, one day they were rushing along out of doors. It was a beautiful, clear, sunny day, though there was snow on the ground.

Daddy was running hard with the harness about him, and Nick and Nanny were running after him.

Sometimes he pulled them on a sleigh, but today they were just off on a most magnificent run and walk.

As they were dashing along and the bells were jingling a horse and sleigh came along.

The horse was quite astonished by the sight of such a strange looking horse as Daddy.

For Daddy was rather a strange looking horse, even though he was a very nice looking Daddy.

The horse became quite excited and almost went off the road—he went off to one side, almost barking so that the people in the sleigh had a great deal of trouble keeping it from upsetting.

But finally the horse seemed to realize that there was nothing for him to be frightened about and he calmed down and went on again.

"Well," said Nick, "I don't think Daddy would frighten a horse."

"Neither did I," laughed Nanny.

"Ah, you see," said Daddy, "he thought if there were many more horses such as I, he would be completely put out of business."

"He has seen automobiles—queer looking things—he thought them at first."

"He is used to them now."

"Then he began to see things in the air which weren't birds at all, but which actually carried people."

"And now he saw me!"

"Well, it made him feel quite frightened and nervous. But he soon calmed down again."

"He saw what a peaceful looking animal I really am!"

"Oh, Daddy," shouted Nanny, "to think that our fiery steed should almost cause an upset."

"We're certainly a dashing turn-out."

"We certainly are," said Nick.

"Only I hope we don't turn out any others except ourselves," Daddy said.

Ate All They Had

Michigan Happenings

Fred L. Woodworth, collector of internal revenue for the Detroit district, has announced that he no longer possesses authority to grant extensions of time to persons who are absent from home during the winter and for that reason find it inconvenient to file their income tax returns by March 15, the final date under the law. Such extensions now can be lawfully granted only by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, and applications must be made directly to the commissioner, Mr. Woodworth said.

The sale of 1925 license plates will start December 1, according to announcement by Secretary of State Charles J. Deland. No extensions of time will be granted, and every motorist must be equipped by January 1 if he plans to operate his car, it was said. Deland asserted that it is needless to have applications for license plates sworn to by notaries who charge a fee, as notaries who will do the work free will be stationed in the 50 branches of the state, the five in Detroit and the main office in Lansing.

An endowment of $400,000, the largest ever bestowed upon the University of Michigan, for purposes of medical research, has been presented to the board of regents by Mrs. Christine MacDonald Simpson, widow of the late Thomas H. Simpson, Detroit manufacturer, clubman and industrial executive, who died May 8, 1923. The endowment is to be known as "The Thomas H. Simpson Memorial Institute for Medical Research."

Charged with having made an assault with a dangerous weapon upon Henry Hobart, well known farmer of Lamberville township, the night of August 22, Conrad Reaworski, Edward Stepaniski, Howard Kessler, Stanley Amborski, Joe Byers, all of Toledo, and Edward Nidek, of Temperance, Mich., pleaded guilty in the circuit court at Monroe and were remanded to jail pending sentence.

Loss of life was narrowly averted when a big Ludington-Hart passenger bus turned over into a ditch five miles south of Ludington in trying to avert hitting another automobile. The smaller car was hurled into the ditch when the bus crashed into it while the bus swung to the opposite side of the road and overturned. Passengers and both drivers escaped unhurt.

Earl Hudson, 55 years old, of Toledo, was killed instantly in the yards of the Pere Marquette railroad at Monroe. Hudson, employed by the railroad as a switchman, was said to be standing between a switch engine and box car when a draw bar pulled out, the speed of the locomotive throwing him beneath the wheels of the freight car.

With the sight of both eyes believed to be destroyed, Calvin Mann, 54 years old of Dearborn, is recovering from burns caused by acid thrown into his face. Mrs. Frances Marvel, Detroit, is under arrest charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm in connection with the affair.

Two hunters, Chester Clark and Robert Radka, both well known residents of Rogers City, lost their lives in Lake Huron near the shore of Drummond Island when they were attempting to ferry deer they had shot on the island across to their camp near Detroit on the mainland.

Jim Christ, a restaurant proprietor of Battle Creek, was shot twice and badly wounded here when two bandits sought to rob his place. As one bandit tackled the cash register, Christ tackled him with a broom. The bandits fired several shots and made their escape as Christ fell.

Trying to cross a pond in Rochester on thin ice, Myron, nine year old son of Charles Straub, was drowned on his way to school. An attempt to rescue him was balked by the breaking of the ice and only after a boat was forced through could he be taken out.

Enroute to St. Mary's hospital to visit a friend who was a patient, Nicholas A. Lanning, 55 years old, a banker of Grand Rapids, dropped dead from heart failure as he stepped from his automobile.

Richard Schram, of Grand Rapids, was killed when an automobile which he was riding left the road and crashed into a tree about four miles west of Williamston, on the Detroit-Lansing road.

Herbert L. Chestnut, an Olds Motor company employe at Lansing, was killed instantly when a dynamite charge with which he was blasting stumps exploded and blew his head from his body. He placed the charge and it failed to explode. He went to determine the cause and the charge let go.

Michael Robe, 34 years old, of Kalamazoo, electrician, was electrocuted while repairing a switchboard for a local firm.

Taking advantage of the first fall of snow at Mt. Clemens, two brothers, William and Jake Henry, 10 and six years old, coasted down the South Street hill and were drowned when their sled broke through the thin fringe of ice on the banks of the Clinton River.

Judge C. B. Collingswood, in Circuit Court has denied a motion to dismiss the suit of the county against a number of chiropractors for practicing in Lansing without a state license.

Benjamin Criddle, of Detroit, is alleged to have shot three persons, including his divorced wife at Flint. According to the police, Criddle found his divorced wife at the home of Charles Boston. Boston and William Bailey were present when he entered and the three were commanded at the point of a pistol to stand with their faces to the wall. Criddle then is alleged to have fired three shots, wounding the three in the back and to have fled from the home.

Miss Elma Leham, of Port Huron, suffered a broken nose and bad cuts about the face in an automobile accident and is in the Pontiac City hospital. She was a passenger in the car of Charles Thorne, of Port Huron, who was accompanied by his wife and three children. The Thorne car collided with one driven by Sidney Marr, 1032 Adelaine avenue, Detroit, at the intersection of Rochester and Auburn roads, south of Rochester.

Postmaster General Harry S. New and Harry M. Jewett, Detroit automobile manufacturer, are responsible for the first game law violation fine of the season. New and Jewett swore out affidavits causing the arrest of George Carpenter of Alpena on a charge of killing a doe, the body of which they discovered in the woods near here. Carpenter pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

The postoffice department has authorized the use of special envelopes for letters intended to be carried by air mail. These envelopes are to be white with three stripes of red, white and blue across the face. These envelopes are not to be issued by the department, but any person may get them printed for his own use. They must not in any case be used for the regular mails.

Dr. Perry Schurtz, 79, prominent physician and surgeon, died at his home at Grand Rapids following an attack of angina pectoris. He was formerly a member of the board of health and had achieved a national reputation for his innovations in public health measures. He was the first surgeon in the United States to remove a kidney and have the patient live.

The board of trustees of Albion College has authorized an increase in the enrollment from 550 to 600 for the coming college year. Re-arrangements of class rooms and offices has made it possible to raise the maximum of students, according to President J. L. Seaton, who, with Robert B. Stewart, business secretary, has spent months on the problem.

Mack Tourtelotte, 44 years old, of Pennville, is in a hospital at Kalamazoo with what is believed to be a broken neck following an accident when he drove his automobile into a ditch to escape hitting a boy on a bicycle. The accident occurred eight miles west of Pennville. Other occupants of the car were not injured.

Instead of holding their regular banquet, the members of the Hillsdale Rotary club motored to Jackson, where they inspected the state prison as the guests of Warden Hulbert. The Hillsdale visitors were served lunch at the prison annex, preceding a trip to Chelsea to visit the state penitentiary.

A wound inflicted by a toy pistol, which developed into lockjaw, caused the death in a Kalamazoo hospital of Willard Eberhart, ten-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Eberhart, residing near Schenckville. The boy shot himself in the hand several days ago and was brought to the hospital.

Charles E. Lawrence, range manager for Packard's Mather ore company, announced the opening of the Little Buck and Fogarty mines, at Iron River, which have been idle since last June, employing 150 men. This announcement makes five mines to be in operation within two weeks.

Mrs. Christina Kloss, 95 years, was found dead on the floor of her home in Muskegon on the return of her son, John Feathers, who had been absent for several days. Mrs. Kloss, who was apparently stricken while fixing a fire in a stove, had been dead for some time.

Eighteen Oakland county boys have been awarded money prizes for raising potatoes. The Pontiac Kiwanis Club sponsored a competition last spring among the boys' clubs of the county to ascertain which could raise the best crop, doing all the work themselves.

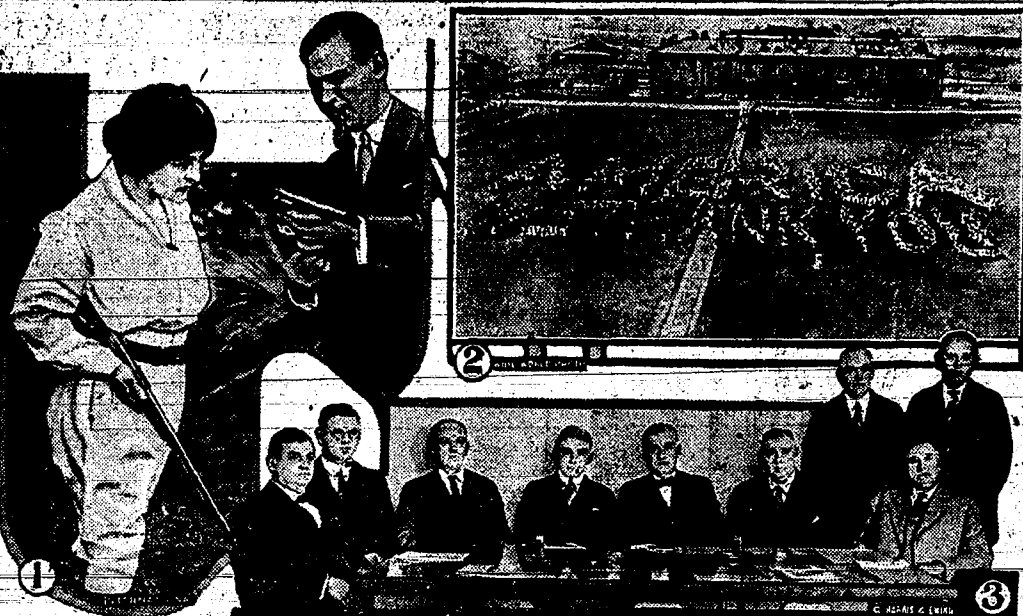

The first Michigan skater to drown this winter is Ernest Carlson, 19 years old, of Ironwood, who lost his life near Mellen, Wis., according to word received. Skating on Gill Lake with his 13-year-old brother, Carlson broke through the thin ice.

Total registration at the University of Michigan is 12,156, according to the official count announced from the office of the registrar. This is an increase of 393 over the count at the same time last fall.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Commission Begins Study of Ailments of Agriculture—Porter's Opium Plan

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

THREE seems now to be an actual chance that the worst ailments of American agriculture will be discovered and remedies for them devised.

The commission appointed for this purpose by President Coolidge has been given the fullest latitude by him and has begun its task in a way that shows it means business. But it realizes the magnitude of the work and holds out no hope that its conclusions can be laid before congress at the approaching short session, as the President had thought possible. It will have some recommendations to make at that time, to meet emergency, however. One of these will have to do with the cattle industry, which has not shown the signs of recovery that other branches of farming have shown this fall. The cattlemen have been unable to obtain credit and have been marketing their young stock prematurely, and many of them have gone into bankruptcy.

To begin with, the commission arranged for the cooperation of all the branches of the Department of Agriculture, and called on them for great amounts of information from many sources. When this is all in hand the real work will start. The commission is composed of farm farmers and livestock men and three of the members are heads of big farm organizations. Former Gov. R. D. Carey is chairman. In a preliminary talk concerning the work he said:

"One of the first requests of the commission was for a digest of the large number of agricultural bills introduced in the last session of congress and still pending. In this connection cooperative marketing of agricultural products will come in for special attention. The present laws bearing upon cooperative marketing will be closely studied and the cooperative bill now pending in congress will be considered. Information has been requested by the commission on all phases of the tariff, including protection afforded agriculture under the present law and upon what basis the tariff in each case was determined.

"Present powers of the federal government with respect to quarantine regulations for the protection of different branches of agriculture will be considered. This subject will be taken up in its entire scope, including regulations between the United States and foreign countries, as between various states and between the federal government and the various states.

"One of the most important studies to be undertaken by the commission will have to do with foreign competition of American agricultural products. This will involve an investigation of the costs of foreign products with which major American products compete and a study of the main obstacles with reference to exporting surplus products from this country."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has been asked by the American Legion, through National Commander Dr. D. D. Ingham, to indorse in his message to congress a number of recommendations from the Legion having to do with national defense. The more important of these are: Universal draft in time of war; maintenance of the navy on a par with that of Great Britain and elevation of our battleship guns; liberal appropriations for the air service and the army; restoration of General Pershing to the active list; retirement of disabled emergency officers, and completion of the government's permanent hospital building program.

EVEN as the "Davies plan" is operating to restore the financial and economic stability of Europe, so may the "Porter plan," also American, put an end to the illegal use of opium and other pernicious drugs. It has been submitted to the League of Nations conference on opium at Geneva by its author, Congressman Stephen Porter, chairman of the American delegation, and is warmly supported by the representatives of most of the forty odd powers; but at this writing some of them, notably Great Britain, are opposed because it will mean economic losses, and maneuvers to render the plan ineffective are expected.

The Porter plan provides for the reduction and restriction of the growing of opium smoking poppies and for a system of import licenses under the control of the governments; for full supervision of the marketing of the drug from the manufacturer to the prescription counter; and for the complete outlawing of heroin. It also provides that certain countries that permit the importation of certain narcotics reduce their imports by 10 per cent annually and finally shut out those drugs entirely.

ESTHONIA is going ahead resolutely with the trials of about two hundred Communists accused of revolutionary plotting, and several have been executed, despite the demands and threatening actions of soviet Russia. There are daily demonstrations before the Estonian consulate in Moscow, arranged by officials of the Third International, and along the Estonian border are large concentrations of soviet troops.

TWO ministries quit office last week, that of Portugal, because parliament refused it a vote of confidence, and that of Finland because the diet accepted measures providing pensions for state officials. The new government of Mexico took office, Calles being inaugurated President.

LUMBERMEN from 40 states and Canada heard a most impressive lecture from President Coolidge last week, and it was made more emphatic by moving pictures. His subject was the waste of lumber that, together with our neglect of reforestation, threatens to exhaust the supply in about two-score years. "Between cutting timber in the woods and finally putting the product to use," he said, "nearly three thirds of the total volume is lost." At the present rate of cutting this waste amounts to more than 10,000,000,000 cubic feet annually. A third of this enormous loss, the President told the hearers, can be saved with tried and approved methods. He told them how rapidly overcutting and fire are denuding the land or forests, and said the government was going to ask them to consider definite plans.

THE American Federation of Labor is in convention in El Paso, Texas, and probably will have before it nothing more exciting than the row between the United Mine Workers of America and the Coal River Collieries company, which is owned by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Early in the proceedings a resolution was introduced censuring the actions and attitude of the coal company and condemning Warren S. Stone, chairman of its board of directors and president of the engineers' brotherhood. A warm fight over this was precipitated in committee, and also on the floor if it were recommended for adoption. John L. Lewis, head of the mine workers, was indignant for the position of secretary of labor. President Thompson, in his opening address, intimated that he would soon be compelled by age to relinquish his activities, but there was little question of his reelection for another term.

WHAT was considered a victory for radical socialism and a demonstration of the strength of Premier Herriot's position was the action of the French senate in granting amnesty to Joseph Cathaux, former president of the committee of abstention, who was convicted of obstructing the prosecution of the war, and to Louis Melyer, former minister of the interior, who was convicted of having communicated with the enemy. Both men had been banished, the former from Paris and the latter from France.

ALL Ireland and innumerable people elsewhere mourn the death of the venerable Cardinal Logue at his residence in Armagh. He celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday about a month ago. The cardinal was beloved by Catholics and Protestants alike and was always the unflinching advocate of peace in Ireland. He was given the red hat 21 years ago. Thomas H. Ince, one of the leading producers of moving pictures in America and the developer of many film celebrities, was stricken with heart disease while aboard his yacht off San Diego and died three days later at his Beverly Hills home. He had just passed his forty-third birthday. Among the stars who owe their success to Mr. Ince are Charles Ray, William S. Hart, Douglas MacLean, Dorothy Dalton, Madge Bellamy and Doris May.

BY DIRECTION of Attorney General Stone, the Department of Justice has obtained the indictment of the Baltimore Daily Post for publishing income tax lists. This is a test case and speedy court action is sought.

Wilmer of Washington, a noted ophthalmologist, and will be directed by him, according to Dr. Frank J. Goodnow, president of Johns Hopkins university.

Dr. Goodnow said it would cost approximately $1,000,000 to erect and equip the Wilmer Institute, as it will be known. Another $1,000,000 will be required to endow the free beds and other charitable features, and a third to endow the teaching of ophthalmology and for the payment of members of the staff.

Forty free beds are to be endowed. Additional facilities will be installed for patients who lack means to pay for hospital care.

The institution will be conducted as a unit of Johns Hopkins University Medical School and Hospital. It will bear the name of Dr. William Holland

TAPIOCA DISHES

Tapioea is a dessert which may safely be served to the children. It is especially inviting when combined with fruit. Take one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of quick cooking tapioea, one-half teaspoonful of salt and three cupfuls of boiling water. Cook until the tapioea is transparent, then pour it into a well-greased baking dish and cover the top with peeled and quartered apples. Bake until the apples are done. Serve hot or cold with sugar and cream.

Maple Tapioea.—One may use one and one-fourth cupfuls of brown sugar with a half teaspoonful of maple flavoring if the maple sirup or sugar is not at hand, add one-half teaspoonful of salt and three cupfuls of boiling water to one-half cupful of tapioea. Cook in a double boiler after the first ten minutes of cooking and serve cold with cream.

Tapioea Custard.—Soak two-thirds of a cupful of tapioea one hour in cold water, drain, then add four cupfuls of scalded milk and cook in a double boiler for half an hour. Beat three eggs slightly, add one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, and pour on gradually the hot mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish, add one tablespoonful of butter and bake thirty minutes in a slow oven.

Tapioea Rabbit.—Cut fine one cupful of rich cheese, add it to a pint of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one level teaspoonful of mustard, red pepper to taste, and two level tablespoonfuls of quick-cooking tapioea. Cook until thick in a double boiler or chafin dish and just before serving add a well-beaten egg. Serve on toast or crackers.

Peach Tapioea.—Drain a can of peaches, sprinkle with powdered sugar and let stand one hour. To one cupful of tapioea, add three cupfuls of boiling water, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook until the tapioea is transparent. The peach juice from the can may be used, adding enough water to make the three cupfuls of liquid. Line a mold with the peaches, fill in the tapioea and bake thirty minutes. Serve with cream.

When I was one-and-twenty I heard a wise man say, Give thanks and be glad, and you will keep your fancy free. But I was one-and-twenty. No use to talk to me. —A. E. Housman.

GOOD THINGS IN SEASON.

A drink which will keep and may be used in hot weather can be prepared now from cranberries.

Cranberry Juice.—Take five quarts of cranberries, scald them until their skins crack, then strain through a fine cloth. Make a sirup of two pounds of sugar and one quart of water, then mix all together to make four quarts. Bottle and seal and when used, fill the glass with crushed ice and pour in the juice to fill the glass.

Pineapple Cake Dessert.—In an iron spider put one cupful of brown sugar and one-half cupful of butter. When melted lay in as many slices of pineapple as the spider will hold and cook gently for ten minutes, then pour over the following mixture: Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar, two eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half cupful of milk and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Cook on top of the stove for one minute, then put into a hot oven for forty minutes. Turn out on a platter, cool and serve with whipped cream.

Caramel Marmalade.—Wash and scrape enough carrots when put through the meat chopper to make three cupfuls. Boil or steam until tender. Wash and peel two oranges, putting the peeling from one orange through the meat grinder and cutting the other in fine strips. Place these in water and boil until tender. To the hot carrots add four cupfuls of sugar, the juice of three lemons and orange pulp cut into bits, one cupful of water, using the water in which the orange peel was cooked. Cook all together until the sirup is thick and the fruit is clear. Three slices of pineapple may be added in place of the orange, making a different flavored marmalade.

Fruit Salad.—Cut in halves and remove the seeds from Tokay grapes. Slice into small bits celery and firm juicy apple, combine equal parts and mix all together with French dressing. Arrange on leaves of lettuce, mixing a few broken leaves of iceberg lettuce with the other ingredients of the salad. Do not add the pepper to a French dressing until ready to serve it, as it has a tendency to separate the dressing.

Famous Trotting Horse

Goldsmith Maid, the famous bay trotting mare, held the one mile trotting record from 1871 to 1874, taking it from Dexter in 2:17 and losing it to Rarus in 2:18 1/4. She lowered the record to 2:14 before losing it.

She had just been kissed. "You'll pay for this!" she stormed. "I'll tell my father and he'll—" "But, dear," he started to object. "Sh! Here he comes now."

LINGERIE IN GIFT LIST; COATS OF NOVEL FABRICS

SO FAR as femininity is concerned this is fast becoming a silk world. From head to foot, under and outer garments of silk are sweeping the fields of those made of other fabrics until one wonders where all the silk comes from. But all that glitters is not gold and all that shimmers is not silk. Processes for making artificial silk and for giving a silky luster to cotton fabrics have reached a high stage of excellence. "Imitation is sincerest flattery" and these less expensive mediums that have much of the sheen and daintiness of silk help out in answering the demand for silky clothes.

Undergarments have reached a de-style. It is of pink crepe de chine with border of alencon lace at the top of the chemise and narrow edging of val at the bottom. Groups of fine tucks and tiny ribbon flowers finish the adornment and shoulder straps are of satin ribbon. The drawers are trimmed in the same way. A set like this, either of silk or the cotton, is easy to make and an enviable Christmas gift. The happy possessor of a coat made of one of those warm fabrics that rival fur can look winter in the face and even say: "Pleased to meet you." Manufacturers of these fri-like materials have woven them in the close imitations of natural furs that everyone is familiar with—but they gree of daintiness and beauty that makes them a big factor in Christmas shopping and styles in them are varied a little from time to time. Certain colors and trimmings are promoted each season in silk lingerie and immediately copied exactly in the artificial cotton fabrics. In silk, crepe de chine, crepe satin, rayon and other lightweight weaves—imitating their popularity and in cottons, batiste, fine voile, sheer dimities, cross-bar and striped patterns in one color, are used.

Both in silk and cotton lingerie this season two or three light colors are sometimes used, appearing in applique figures or borders on garments of a

are also, weaving them in novel patterns. These fabrics are supple, highly lustrous and very durable and are adaptable to this winter's styles in coats and ensemble costumes.

At the left of the picture shown here there is a good example of the interest of styles that of novelty in costume. It is a mid-winter dress, accepted for fur garments and has color, cuffs and banding at the bottom of a fur that resembles stone marten. It is lined with plain crepe and warmly interlined. A huge and handsome button fastens it at one side and this side fastening completes its equip-light color. Pink is far in the lead as a color choice, but orchid, light green, malze and turquoise are well represented. Lace, net and embroidery tucks and platings contribute a big share of the trimmings in favor just now. Alencon lace has been revived, but is not more like than val, tuck and cluny laces. Net and embroidery appear on some of the simplest but prettiest new lingerie pieces. In underclothes as in outer garments the mode leans toward simplicity.

A matched set, shown in the picture, is a late arrival and up-to-date in ment for fortifying its wearer against the cold.

A plain weave in the same kind of velvety fabric is shown in the coat at the left. The arresting style note is an applique trimming of the same fabric in a darker color. Dyed muskrat minkery cuffs and a collar which is extended into a long facing, nine inches wide, down the entire length of the front. These coats, although they preserve the straightline silhouette, are quite wide.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

© 1934, Western Newspaper Union.

PLAYING HORSE.

Now of all the make-believe horses in the world Daddy made the best one.

He hadn't four legs, it was true. Of course that was a pity. Still, if he had four legs he wouldn't be Daddy.

So that was something to think about.

And he could make a very nice make-believe horse.

He wore a harness, so beautifully. He cantered and galloped and sometimes he almost ran away.

At least it was very hard to keep him back. You had to say "Whoa" a great many times, and pull at the harness, too.

The harness was a beautiful one. It was of many colors and it had been knitted. It was round and strong, and it had lovely jingling bells upon it, too.

Sometimes Daddy wouldn't go at all. You just had to urge him and beg him.

Once he had tried lying down. But that time he had got up again when he was given a chocolate. A lump of sugar hadn't made Daddy get up, but he retained when he saw the chocolate, and got up at once.

They Were Rushing Along.

It was one he particularly liked. He could tell from its shape that it had a hard center and he liked hard centers in the candies.

Then Daddy had been a beautiful horse after that.

Oh, he had given them a splendid ride—or perhaps it should have been called "run!"

Sometimes just Nancy drove him, and sometimes Nick did, and sometimes they both did together!

In any case he was a most beautiful horse.

Well, one day they were rushing along out of doors. It was a beautiful, clear, sunny day, though there was snow on the ground.

Daddy was running hard with the harness about him, and Nick and Nancy were running after him.

Sometimes he pulled them on a slight but today they were just off on a most magnificent run and walk.

As they were dashing along, and the boys were flinging a horse and sleigh came along.

The horse was quite astonished by the sight of such a strange-looking horse as Daddy.

For Daddy was rather a strange-looking horse even though he was a very nice-looking Daddy.

The horse became quite excited and almost went off the road—he went off to one side, almost backing so that the people in the sleigh had a great deal of trouble keeping it from upsetting.

But finally the horse seemed to realize that there was nothing for him to be frightened about and he calmed down and went on again.

"Well," said Nick, "I don't think Daddy would frighten a horse."

Nancy and Nick jumped Nancy.

"Ah, you see," said Daddy, "he thought if there were many more horses such as I, he would be completely put out of business."

"He has seen automobiles—queer-looking things—he thought him at first."

"He is used to them now."

"Then he began to see things in the air—which were not apples at all, but which actually carried people."

"And how he saw me!"

"Well, it made him feel quite frightened and nervous. But he soon calmed down again."

"He saw what a peaceful-looking animal I really am."

"Oh, Daddy," shouted Nancy, "to think that our fiery steed should at most cause an upset."

"We're certainly a dashing turn-out."

"We certainly are," said Nick. "Only I hope we don't turn out any others except ourselves," Daddy said.

THE TRUTHFUL PROMOTER.

How can you expect me to put money into this business? I don't know anything about it! Well, that was one of the reasons why I expected you to put money into it.

MAGNANIMOUS.

This year, my love, you can wish for what ever you like for your birthday. Oh, how perfectly sweet. For I shan't be able to give you anything at all.

A grouch seldom locates in a healthy body.

A hard boiled egg really has no thicker shell.

No cement will ever mend a broken promise.

Home for some people is where the automobile roads are smoothest.

A salesman gets the same thrill from landing orders that a farmer gets from harvesting fruit and grain.

Don't be so concerned over what people might think about you; the chances are they seldom think about you at all.

If you understand what you're trying to do your job is half done.

It's simply impossible for an honest and a dishonest man to work together.

It certainly is fine, when you're so cold you can't sleep, to have someone get up and find an extra blanket for you.

Millions Lost by His Friends Who Invested in the "Dayano River Oil Deal"

Hallef, N. S., known as Koretz, alias Lou Koye, depicted as the smoothest and most dangerous confidence man in the United States, and for whom a world-wide search has been conducted for the last year, has been arrested here.

Koretz was taken into custody by assistant state attorneys of Chicago, on a warrant issued by the state of Illinois, charging him with the murder of a woman named "Dayano."

His arrest was the result of a long and arduous search, and he is now being held in custody.

Arnold's Wife Shared in Husband's Disgrace

April 8, 1936. Gen. Benedict Arnold and Margaret, better known as Peggy Shippen, were married in Philadelphia. The marriage was the culmination of a wartime romance. The groom, then a trusted subordinate of General Washington, was later to become the most exalted man in American history. Most every one has heard of Arnold's unspeakable treason, and even of his wife's affair with the charming Peggy.

It was certain that his wife was in absolute ignorance of Arnold's sad adventure. Indeed, as soon as the traitor was sure of his own safety he wrote to General Washington asserting his wife's innocence, and saying: "I beg she may be permitted to return to her friends in Philadelphia, or come to me, as she may choose." Washington, who was a just man, believed in her innocence. He offered to send her with an escort to Philadelphia, or to put her under a flag of truce on the king's ship, the Vulture. She chose the former and arrived in Philadelphia about October 1, 1780, says the Detroit News.

But she had not been there a month when the council adopted a resolution ordering her to leave the city and not to return during the war. Five years later she came home again, but was treated with so much coldness and neglect, even by those who had encouraged her marriage, that she left again, never to return. She remained with Arnold during the remainder of his broken and disgraced life. He died in London, an embittered and sad man, without a country.

Recorded Their Fear of Premature Burial

Fears of premature burial have resulted in the formation of a society to effect reforms in the law of death certification, writes Arthur Pondenys in John of London's Weekly. There is, however, nothing new in these fears. The Egyptians kept the bodies of the dead under careful supervision by the priests previous to embalming and until satisfied that life was extinct. The Greeks were aware of the dangers of premature burial and often cut off the finger of a person believed to be dead before cremation.

In modern times the fear of being buried alive has haunted many. Wilkie Collins had this fear, and always left overnight on his dressing table a note solemnly cautioning that should he be found dead, his supposed death was to be carefully tested by a doctor. Hans Andersen always carried a note in his pocket to the same effect. Harriet Martineau left her doctor $50 to see that her hand was amputated before burial.

Hold Tortoise in Esteem

The tortoise in the flowery empire of China is regarded as a symbol of wealth and is venerated. Wedding carriages have tortoises painted on them, and also have New Year's gifts. A second legend in China states that the tortoise is supposed to have borne the burden of the basis of moral teachings and the secrets of the unseen. It is more revered in China than among practical Japanese. When a man around any of the seaports and a large one in with their catch. The Chinaman then carves his name on the shell, that the animal may know to whom it owes its life, and taking it out into deep water allows it to go free, thus insuring a prosperous long life for himself.

Symbolic Indian Masks

According to the Bureau of American Ethnology, tribes of Indians throughout North America wore masks at religious festivals and at some social gatherings. Sometimes the masks were made of wood, and in other cases the entire company would appear in masks. The false faces generally represented supernatural beings. The simplest form of mask was one prepared from the head of a buffalo, deer, or some other animal. The mask stood not for the actual animal, but for the type of animal and its supernatural characteristics, and the person wearing it was for the time being endowed with the distinctive quality of the animal.

Nature's Great Gas Tank

A natural gas tank with a greater capacity than any tank that man has ever made is in use at Springfield, N. Y. In fact, it is said to have a capacity 20 times greater than any tank at present in use. It is a big hole in the ground, with some peculiar formations which makes it a very secure holder. It was formerly the center of a natural gas field, but the field was exhausted, but this great holder is now used as a storage tank for the gas from other wells. It is pumped in during the summer months and drawn upon during the winter when the demands for gas are greater. This hole has a storage capacity of 400,000,000 cubic feet.

All the Details

Young Si had just returned from the city, and his chum was asking him about the experiences, in particular how he enjoyed eating in an automat-restaurant.

"How do they work?" the friend asked.

"Well, you put your nickel in the watchamacallit and press the thing-umbob, and the doobinkus turns around and gives you your food," explained Si.

"Isn't that marvelous?" echoed the chum. "I knew they were wonderful things, but I ain't heard the details before."

Why Greek Soldiers Shaved. Beards were worn universally by the Greeks and Alexander the Great ordered his soldiers to remove them so that the enemy might not grasp them in a fight.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

R. B. BAILEY
County Agricultural Agent

Finishing

The third car of tuberculosis cattle was shipped from Grayling Saturday, Nov. 10.

The next and last car will be shipped from Grayling Nov. 29. In all there were found 95 tuberculous cattle in Crawford county.

The doctors have finished their work and have gone. A second test will be made in the spring.

It will pay everyone, owning cattle, to clean the barn thoroughly; then to scrub with scalding water and concentrated lye; then spray with a disinfectant.

This applies to every farmer, whether he lost cattle by tuberculosis or not.

Forms of tuberculosis are too small to be seen with naked eye. They can't be scraped out with the barn shovel.

Some who put off this cleaning up or who clean up in a careless way are going to live to regret it.

The doctors tested 217 herds; 1534 cattle; found 95 reactors; 52 infected herds. Percentage of reactors was six and 2-tenths per cent.

Ontonagon County. Ontonagon county tested 4855 cattle; found 219 reactors. Their per cent of loss was 4.51, or a shade more than four and one-half per cent.

In one township the loss ran to 9 per cent. In one township in which 99 cattle were tested no reactors were found. One farm out of every five in Ontonagon county had reactors.

Crawford County averaged very nearly one farm in every four having reactors.

Getting Their Money. Everyone has received a check for the carcass value of cattle shipped from Grayling Nov. 15.

Checks are now being given out for cattle shipped from Frederic on Nov. 12.

Purebred Bull Free. The New York Central Lines has a fine registered purebred Holstein bull that they will loan to the right farmer in Crawford county, free.

The bull is right in the prime of his life and has been taken quickly, or the bull will be loaned to another county. This will be a splendid chance for some farmer who believes in purebred stock, who could not raise the $200 to $300 to purchase an animal like this.

This will be a real test whether the farmers really want better blood in their stock or not. See the county agent for particulars.

Time. Who wants to go in on a car of splendid, fine agricultural limestone at the lowest rate ever offered us? Shipped from Afton, just east of Indian River.

A lot of us are never going to get very much out of the farm unless we have to grow in crops of legumes—clover, alfalfa, sweet clover. Many thousands of other farmers have found lime necessary. We badly need it on most farms here. See the County agent at once so we can have car come to haul lime home on first sleighing.

Not Quitting. Although Henry Ford has withdrawn his offer to lease the power and to purchase certain property from the government, at Muscle Shoals, for the purpose of manufacturing cheaper fertilizer, the American Farm Bureau does not propose to give up the fight to have this power used for the purpose of making cheaper fertilizer.

The Wall Street Journal of October 22 shows how glad Ford was that Ford withdrew his offer because so much of the fertilizer comes from Chile that if Ford had been allowed to develop Muscle Shoals for the American farmer's good, it would have spoiled a very soft snap for Chile. Read the extract:

"Santiago, Chile—Henry Ford's withdrawal of his offer to take over the Muscle Shoals project has resulted in a considerable boom in the Chilean Nitrate industry. Chile is the greatest nitrate producer in the world and the United States is her principal customer. With Ford in control of Muscle Shoals, on an announced program of making vast quantities of nitrates from the air, Chilean producers saw ruin ahead of them."

"Nitrate shares in London rose from 2 to 3 points as soon as news of withdrawal of the Ford offer was received."

"Although the dispatch says the Chileans saw ruin facing them if Muscle Shoals is used to make cheap fertilizers for the farmers, the facts will not confirm it. True, it would shift the tax burden from the backs of American farmers to the Chileans, but the industry could afford to do away with the tax if modern methods of obtaining nitrates were employed by them. A more modern method of taxation would be a blessing to the country, and some of its high officials freely admit it."

"What the Farm Bureau has done in the present case is to protect its means lost, nor is the keen edge of the fight for principle even dulled."

Eggs! Get 'Em!! Eggs always sell well in Grayling in the winter. Vast quantities of eggs are shipped in because our farmers do not bring in enough of them. Why not clean, spray and whitewash the hen house; feed a better ration and get lots of eggs to sell?

In the great international egg laying contest, in which a thousand hens are engaged at our Agricultural College, the hens are treated thus:

A very small percentage of the pens have shown any signs of infirmity. These have responded to treatment. We are using one pound of epsom salts to each hundred birds in the drinking water where any infirmity has made an appearance.

The individual birds are treated with the formula: One part Oil of Eucalyptus, ten parts Oil of Petrol, this is injected into the nasal openings.

Several of our contestants have inquired regarding our feeding methods so we are publishing herewith the rations which are being fed on the Contest plan.

The birds receive a light feed of scratch feed the first four days of the morning and a full feed in the evening.

Sprouted oats are fed for a green feed at nine o'clock. Semi-solid buttermilk at the rate of five pounds to a hundred birds is fed at eleven o'clock. Some of the pens are not consuming quite so much semi-solid as they probably will after becoming accustomed to it. Dry mash is served the birds at all times.

Scratch feed: Cracked Corn.....50 pounds Whole wheat.....50 pounds Dry mash.....30 pounds Ground corn.....30 pounds Ground oats.....20 pounds Bran.....20 pounds Middlings.....20 pounds Meat scrap.....10 pounds Fine salt.....1 pound Ground limestone.....3 pounds

Cumprison. Who among us has the gumption to rise out of the common level and do better than the crowd is doing?

PROTECTING AN INVESTMENT. Abraham Lincoln humorously said of a neighbor's ass. "He has a wife and two children, which I should think were worth thirty thousand dollars to any man."

A family is indeed a golden investment and needs the same protection and care that any investment requires.

For three generations the editors of The Youth's Companion have felt the same responsibility to the families of their own country as the families were theirs. In taking a subscription they have accepted a trust; they have done their part to see that the family investment increased in value through the development of character and taste for the good things of life.

The 52 issues of 1935 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscriptions now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1935.

2. All remaining issues of 1934.

3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1935. (Sent only on request.) All for $2.50.

4. Or include McCall's Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications only $3.00.

Many Grayling Folks Are Showing How to Avoid Needless Suffering

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and that with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Grayling people. Profit by this Grayling residents' experience:

Mrs. Robt. Taylor, Elm St., says: "Backache was the first symptom of kidney trouble in my case. When I bent over to pick up anything, sharp twinges caught me across my kidneys. Constant headaches wore me out and I often had spells of dizziness. My kidneys were weak and acted too often. Doan's Pills did not fail to rid me of the trouble."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Taylor had. Foster-Milburn Co. Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Spends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burden of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case Is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters argues the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11.

Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30 last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 2,500 chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

58,767 Soldier Cases a Month. The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service," for it gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoriums averaged 33,991 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 58,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 33,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the burden of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases. The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,609 chapters, an increase of 182 communities. The problems affected by the war veterans' condition required action through immediate and intelligent assistance. The chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the past year $173,076.36 was expended in helping the chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government report there are 4,800 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, of veterans of foreign wars, and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor denied.

Definite Service to 73,700. Of a total of 84,500 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross in a single month 4,185 new cases were presented and a total of 26,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the service and the claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers.

New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends many additional rights to disabled ex-service men will require thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service. The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 195,246 cases. There were 36,935 separate soldiers and sailors claims; 20,216 investigations of home conditions; 11,421 cases related to discharge, furloughs, etc. Assistance was given in 39,638 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,226 visits were made to the sick or disabled, and nearly 40,000 letters and telegrams dispatched to the homes of enlisted men.

From June to September at the numerous military training camps the Red Cross provided information and home service to the trainees, also instruction in First Aid and Life-Saving. The entertainment and recreation events at the various Army and Navy hospitals reached nearly 9,500 during the year, and occupational therapy in nine Naval hospitals gave constructive and beneficial results and occupied the time of patients in the making of useful and ornamental things.

GOOD FOR WEAK EYES. The quick action of simple camphor, hydrastis, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash astonishes people. One small bottle helps any case of weak, sore or strained eyes. Aluminum eye cup free. A. M. Lewis is Druggist.

Yams Not Sweet Potatoes. True yams are entirely distinct from sweet potatoes, and are much like the high potato in composition and food value.

Colors to Scare Spirits

The Chinese, as most people know, are extremely superstitious, and have a great dread of evil spirits; they take endless trouble, in all the affairs of life, to circumvent the demons, says the Detroit News. The evil spirits, the Chinese believe, loathe bright colors, especially red, and these lurid decorations are supposed to be very potent in their protective influence. With decorated ball in all sorts of vivid tints and a big eye at the bow to enable "it to see," a Chinese junk is a very impressive-looking craft.

Colors to Scare Spirits

Scorpions' Stings Not Fatal. Scorpions range from two to eight inches in length, and while they are able to inflict a severe wound with their stings, it is rarely fatal.

Colors to Scare Spirits

Women Bankers. It is interesting to note that women are recognized more frequently in the banking business throughout the West than in the East.

Nature's Amends for Tall Taken by Years

The critics have always stumbled a little over this dual phase of supreme genius. They used to think that Michelangelo's last work was unfinished. They still often think that what we must recognize in such a manifestation is lassitude, failure of energy, a weakening grasp of brain or hand. I am not sure that there is not an element of truth in such criticism.

servant Haycock Ellis, in the Forum. Only let us not forget that it is the mark of high genius, less to display abnormally Titan strength than to be able to use weakness to reach divine ends. That power, it may well seem to us, is supremely visible in the typical last phase of the highest genius. The artist has lost his early power of realistic grip, and with it also his early taste for such power. But he has lost it only to attain a wider and deeper and more symbolic mastery of the world. He no longer cares more than he has ever before for its essence, and he is conscious of the presence with a delicacy of sensitive perception he never before possessed. He is no longer concerned with things; they are receding from his view. As he rises above the earth, like Elijah in his chariot of fire, he now sees it only in the distance. Henceforth he no longer deals with things. It is the soul of things that he brings before us. That is why his latter work fascinates us endlessly as, slowly, after many years, enlightened by the long course of our own experience, we begin at last to understand what it means.

Good Stories Told of Famous French Writer

Max O'Rell, the famous French writer, joked to the end. When he was lying on his deathbed, and after the doctors had informed him that there was no hope, he wrote: "I fear that I am doomed. The doctors give me a few months, but I believe I shall last longer. At any rate I shall try; for I'd rather wear a hat than a halo."

Max O'Rell, like all professional men, was occasionally imposed on with regard to his health. He once invited him to an "at home" as a guest and then expecting him to perform in other words to "tell a few stories."

Once when this happened, he left the drawing room hurriedly and went down to the hall, whence he returned in a few minutes in a state of great excitement, and approaching his hostess whispered excitedly into her ear: "Mum, what kind of people have you here? The check you placed in my overcoat pocket—my fee for tonight—has been stolen!" San Francisco Argonaut.

Wars of the Roses

The Wars of the Roses were a series of sanguinary contests for the possession of the English throne, waged by the adherents of the houses of York and Lancaster, whose badges were the white and red roses, respectively. The struggle, says the Kansas City Star, commenced with the battle of St. Albans (1455), and lasted until 1485 when Henry Tudor (of Lancaster) defeated and killed Richard III (of York) at Bosworth field. The two houses were finally united in the person of Henry Tudor (afterward Henry VII), who in 1486 married Elizabeth of York, daughter of Edward IV. It is estimated that the Wars of the Roses occasioned the deaths of 12 princes of the blood, 200 nobles and 400,000 of the country and common people of England.

Oldest Almanac

In the British museum is an almanac—that is, 3,000 years old; it is supposed to be the oldest in the world.

It is written like all other Egyptian manuscripts, on papyrus, and was found on the mummy of an Egyptian, who had treasured it apparently as something sacred, for it is of a strong religious character. Under the days, which are written in red ink, there is a figure followed by three characters, signifying the probable state of the weather.

It is not entire, but it was evidently torn before its owner died. Beyond clearly establishing the reign of Rameses the Great, it contains nothing else of any value.

Daubloon Still Current

The daubloon, that famous coin of romance, is still in circulation. The Isabelle daubloon, worth $5, still remains current in Cuba. The daubloon is so called because, when first coined, it was double the value of a pistole.

It was given later to a double daubloon silver in the West Indies. Pieces of eight, with which readers of fiction are familiar, are also in circulation. They are simply Spanish dollars of eight reals. A daubloon dated 1767 there are said to be only six of that date in existence—sold not long ago for $6,200.

Colors to Scare Spirits

The Chinese, as most people know, are extremely superstitious, and have a great dread of evil spirits; they take endless trouble, in all the affairs of life, to circumvent the demons, says the Detroit News. The evil spirits, the Chinese believe, loathe bright colors, especially red, and these lurid decorations are supposed to be very potent in their protective influence. With decorated ball in all sorts of vivid tints and a big eye at the bow to enable "it to see," a Chinese junk is a very impressive-looking craft.

RED CROSS IS URGING BETTER-HEALTH BATTLE

Tireless in Services Advancing Cause of Freedom from Human Suffering.

Not alone in preparedness for emergencies, but in a tireless offensive battle for better health is the American Red Cross nurse maintaining in peace time the high tradition of her war service. As in war, the same self-sacrificing service for humanity goes on in its quiet, effective way content in its accomplishments, seeking no public acclaim. Enrolled in the Red Cross Nursing Service are 40,550 of these missionaries of health, nearly 1,000 carrying the message of a basic public health to as many communities and 1,100 teaching large classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. Exactly 100 Red Cross nurses are still on duty overseas, helping the struggle forward toward the high standard of American nurse efficiency in many countries.

In the Government services 8,117 enrolled Red Cross nurses are on duty with the Army, Navy, Public Health Service and the Veterans Bureau, while the entire active enrollment is maintained as a reserve for the Army Nurse Corps and available to the Navy in a national defense emergency. Nine hundred nurses were added to the roll the last year.

Red Cross nursing, however, has perhaps its finest expression out in the places laid waste by fire, flood and storm, and in the back reaches far from the centers of population. In every disaster the Red Cross nurse is first called for, first to respond, and the last to leave her post of duty among the suffering victims. In the isolated sections of Alaska, North Carolina, Virginia, Idaho, and among the bleak islands of Penobscott Bay, Me., her ministrations are making hard lives easier and working for a brighter future for the children. Her part in the human drama of the time is increasingly important, although it is subdued by the very nature of her work.

The policy of the American Red Cross to establish under Chapter control public health nursing services in communities lacking such facilities has been justified and this pioneering work is everywhere endorsed by authorities who are quick to take it over as a proper municipal function and a duty of taxpayers. The Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick program has further penetrated into the schools as a definite part of curriculums. During the year 23,000 school pupils took this Red Cross course. Three telephone corporations adopted it and graduated 960 employe students.

As good health depends upon right eating the Red Cross Nutrition Service continued to promote individual and community health, particularly the health of mothers and children. This service reached nearly 150,000 persons during the year and found work to do for several thousand Red Cross volunteers.

Red Cross Fighting First Aid Battle To Conserve Life

Reliable records establish the fact that more than 75,000 accidental deaths occur every year in the United States. The records show that 206 American citizens are killed every day; that 88 of these deaths are due to automobiles, 35 to falls, 19 to drownings, 16 to burns.

Facing such distressing sacrifice of life is the First Aid Service of the American Red Cross, fighting through education and demonstration to instill a consciousness of safety in the public mind and teaching approved methods which assure that competent aid will come for injured persons until the arrival of doctors. Trained service in the first few minutes is vital in serious accidents and saves many precious lives.

One of the most encouraging signs of the past year is the record of the Red Cross First Aid Insurance Car No. 1 which traveled 9,700 miles along trunk lines, stopping at 137 places. The car's staff of surgeons gave 311 demonstrations to audiences composed of 42,150 railroad men, 71,000 high school and college students, 13,000 industrial workers, 2,000 members of clubs, and nearly 18,000 policemen, firemen, and other municipal employees, a total of 147,000.

Red Cross First Aid certificate were conferred upon 13,865 persons who took the course last year, an increase of 4,000 over 1933. Telephone, gas and electric companies, public service corporations and other larger employers of the country adopted the Red Cross course, and their trainee contests everywhere were witnessed by huge crowds with as much interest as develop at popular athletic games. In the industrial field the growth of First Aid practice to fight to reduce preventable accidents and unnecessary loss of life has received wide recognition. The promise of an unprecedented advance in this cause lies in the evidence of the great strides systematic instruction in First Aid has made throughout the country through the Red Cross chapters and the work of the experts in this service under direction of the national organization.
